Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physician, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and insulating comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to the delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuritis, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms, such as nervous prostration, functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

A YOUNG WIFE'S STORY.

As was stated in yesterday's Gazette, on September 18 Miss Mae Parish came to Alexandria and was married by Rev. Mr. Ewell to William Edwin Brooks, of Maryland. Miss Parish was a telephone operator at the Arlington Hotel, in Washington. Yesterday Mrs. Brooks filed suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for a limited divorce. She claims that after 10 days of wedded life, which was one of continual cruelty and abuse, her husband drove her from his home and compelled her to seek shelter and support from a friend.

Mrs. Brooks claims that after the marriage in Alexandria she and her husband returned to Washington and stopped that night at a hotel. Next day she went to a friend's house, while her husband began to look for a home into which they were to move. Three days later he rented rooms on New York avenue, where she joined him and they resided there for a week. On September 29 Mrs. Brooks told the court her husband came home at 2 o'clock in the morning in an intoxicated condition, and told her that he had only married her simply to make her life miserable. Whereupon, without cause, he willfully beat her and finally ordered her "to get out of the house and stay out." Fearing for her life, the young bride of 10 days, at 2:30 in the morning, fled from her home and sought the residence of a friend on I street, where she has since remained apart from her husband. Mrs. Brooks asks that her husband be compelled to pay her alimony, as she lost her position as telephone operator by her marriage, and is without funds or means of support. She claims that her husband is heir to a fund of $30,000, which is held in trust for him by a Washington financial institution.

The romance event of 1 with the wedding, which was so short lived, is another case of "marry in haste and repent at leisure." Mrs. Brooks, as Miss Parish, was one of the most popular of the young lady telephone operators in Washington. She worked as operator at nearly all the principal hotels in that city, and finally, while at the Arlington, met Brooks, who posed as a millionaire, and showered her with gifts. He was such a passionate lover that, in coming engaged to her, he insisted upon being married at once, although the young lady wished to postpone the wedding for a month, claiming that she could not break her engagement with the telephone company, but finally, on Tuesday, September 18, Brooks persuaded her to elope with him to Alexandria, under the condition that after the marriage she could return to her position as telephone operator for the remainder of the week. So, before being wedded she sent her resignation to the company to take effect on Saturday, September 22, and was married on the 18th. It was exactly one week after she resigned her position that her husband, she alleges, beat her and drove her from home.

Demand Higher Wages and Shorter Hours.

Following on conferences between the representatives of different branches of railway employees and the companies on the western railroads, in which a readjustment of the wage system, a shorter workday and higher wages are demanded, the men on the eastern roads are asking for a readjustment of the wage, involving more pay for shorter hours. According to representatives of the railroad companies, conferences are annually held to readjust wages and settle any grievances which may have arisen, but there is no likelihood of any trouble. The eastern lines involved up to the present are the New York Central, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Members of the railroad brotherhoods do not take the matter as coolly as the representatives of the companies. They talk as if the matter was serious, and say that the enormous increase of traffic on nearly all the systems of late years necessitates a readjustment of the wage system. Conferences are being held or are to be held between representatives of the men and the companies on three roads named, and it was said in New York last night that the Reading, Pennsylvania and Erie Railroads will come next.

In the Pennsylvania system negotiations as to a readjustment of the wage system have been opened by the trainmen over the wage scale of 1907. The company does not expect any trouble east of Pittsburgh, it is said, but the joint grievance committee of all the branches of employees will soon begin meetings in Philadelphia.

The principal organizations of railroad men are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors. The trainmen's organization takes in the switchmen, yardmen, brakemen and in some cases the baggage-men.

It is said that the demands on the New York Central are more sweeping than on the other roads. The men, it is said, want an increase in wages or the eight-hour day where it is not altogether in force.

RICHARDS SENTENCED TO HANG.

The jury in the case of John W. Richards, the Floyd county school teacher, charged with the murder of Maurice K. Francis, of Roanoke, who was shot from ambush on the public highway in Floyd county on July 29, 1905, after deliberating three hours yesterday afternoon, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Counsel for the defense moved that the verdict be set aside. Judge Moffett overruled the motion, and sentenced the young school teacher to hang January 6. The defense noted an appeal to the Supreme Court.

When Judge Moffett passed sentence on Richards he laughed, and walked out of the court and back to prison with the same nonchalance that has characterized him since his incarceration fifteen months ago.

The jury was a special one from Patrick county, and this was the third trial of the case. Richards was charged with shooting Francis, who was en route to Simpson's to visit his fiancée, Miss Gracie Link, and fix the day of their marriage. Richards was desperately in love with Miss Link, by whom he had been rejected. It was shown that he was seen in the community in which the crime was committed on various occasions with a shotgun and in disguise and always on the days on which Francis was expected to visit Miss Link.

On the day following the murder Richards escaped from the officers who were searching for him, and two weeks later returned to his father's home half starved and surrendered to detectives and a posse of citizens. He attempted to prove an alibi by his relatives, but since the last trial his father, mother and brother have died, they being his principal witnesses. Their testimony was admitted at the trial just ended. The verdict meets with general approval at Floyd.

Monument to Wirtz.

At the annual meeting of the Georgia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, at Americus yesterday a report of Mrs. A. B. Hill, of Savannah, the president, who last year inaugurated the plan to erect a monument to Major Henry Wirtz, the Andersonville prison keeper, was read, in which she speaks of opposition to the plan in some sections, as follows:

"There was never any object undertaken by our society that has met with such widespread interest, such loyal support and such violent antagonism. The latter has taken the wildest form, indulged in the most insane abuse, and spreading in any way the women of the S. A. division or the South in general, and we have answered never a word, but have simply gone and prove our case, and mean to establish the truth forever when we unveil our monument. A campaign of defamation it has verily been, for I do not believe any of us knew how ignorant we were of the history of that period until we were obliged to do so in order to give an answer for the faith that was in us."

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bag Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the bowels, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures Hemorrhages, Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Colds and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by E. S. Loring & Sons, Druggists 50c and $1.00. Going Housekeeping?

If so, you can hardly get along without spoons, knives and forks. The silver-plated are without a doubt the most economical in the end. They wear longer, look better and cost very little more than the ordinary kinds. We can even supply silver-plated knives with steel blades. Your sideboard is hardly complete without a silver set. Silver cake and fruit baskets should also be placed there. A candlestick with will brighten the table considerably. After the spread has been cleared off a silver flower dish should be placed on the table. The necessary things in cut-glass are the decanter, the berry bowl and the celery dish. In a great many homes the ice cream is served on cut glass plates. On your dresser place a traveling alarm clock and a sterling silver or silver-plated toilet set, also a hat and clothes brush. You will find plenty use of a number of small silver-plated trays. One has always a good place to keep the watch and 2-K Gold Chain.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 1, 1906.

It is well to call the attention of Alexandrians to some of the measures Mr. Rixey has advocated in Congress in their interest, and call on them to make it their business to support him on election day, next Tuesday. Mr. Rixey has not only labored earnestly, persistently and effectively for the best interests of Alexandria city and county, but for the rest of the district as well. He has been vigilant and active and is without doubt one of the hardest workers in Congress. He secured the passage of the bill making a U. S. experimental farm of a portion of the Arlington estate, and at each session of Congress has advocated an increased appropriation. The maintenance of this farm each year causes the expenditure of thousands of dollars in the city and county of Alexandria, and gives employment to many citizens. He secured the passage of the bill to pay the people for the losses sustained by reason of the encampment of soldiers in the proximity of Alexandria and Alexandria county during the Spanish war. It was largely through his efforts that a bill was passed giving the electric lines permission to cross the Aqueduct bridge, thus giving the people of the county better railroad facilities, thus opening it up to the laying off of town sites, and largely increasing the value of the property within the county. He has labored in season and out of season for the passage of the Memorial bridge bill, and will continue to do so until the fight is won. At the last session of Congress he defeated the broad tire bill, which provided that every wagon coming into Washington with a load of any consequence should be equipped with broad tires. The passage of this bill would have compelled every man hauling into Washington to equip his wagon with new wheels or get a new wagon. He saved the old Long bridge to be used by the brick works and other industries in that end of the county, as well as by the business men of the city who have occasion to haul into Washington. But for his efforts the old bridge would have been torn down before the new one was ready to bear the traffic and great loss would have been sustained. It is probable that the brick works would have been compelled to close down for a time, and they alone would have thrown many and terms out of employment. He is fighting as hard as he can the proposition of the District authorities to dump the sewage of Washington just opposite the city of Alexandria, which would prove a menace to the health of the city. Every Alexandrian should show his appreciation of such a faithful public servant by turning out on election day and giving him the largest majority possible.

THIS COUNTRY imposes tariffs to keep out of this market the wool, hides, ores and other raw material which our South American neighbors are anxious to sell us, and after effectually blocking trade by these artificial barriers with amazing inconsistency it is proposed to encourage trade by subsidizing steamships to ply between American and South American ports. First having barred out South American stuffs, we then offer bribes to our carriers to fetch them hither. The Philadelphia Record asks if it would not be better at the outset to pull down the Dingley fence instead of hiring out shippers to climb over it?

ACCORDING to the City Treasurer's books only 1,257 tax payers, 92 of whom are colored, have qualified themselves to vote at the election to be held on Tuesday next. The fault is theirs, and they have only themselves to blame for not being able to take part in the selection of a congressman to represent them in the next House. The law requires that voters must pay their capitation tax at least six months before the election, and this duty a very large majority of Alexandrians have failed to perform. In addition to the 1,257 mentioned old soldiers who served in the civil war may vote without the payment of the tax.

THE announcement last week of the purchase of the big butter distributing firm of James Rowland & Co., New York, in the interest of the American Farm Produce Company, drew attention to the extensive operations of the latter concern, which aims to control the entire market for eggs, milk and poultry throughout the country. The headquarters of this new trust are at Chicago, and it is understood to be financed by such men as Ryan, Brady, Morton, Whitney, Spear and others. Although the company is capitalized at only $2,000,000, it is supposed to have unlimited resources.

THE POLITICIANS are complaining that the campaign is apathetic. Perhaps the reduction of campaign funds everywhere has led to a diminution of enthusiasm.

A French patrol of one officer and sixty men has been surprised and wiped out by a Senoussi force, two hundred miles northeast of Lake Tchad.

From Washington.
(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)
Washington, Nov. 1.
Assistant Secretary Murray of the Department of Commerce and Labor today denied the appeal of the thirteen Italian laborers, who arrived at Ellis Island on the Buenos Aires on October 11, and were ordered deported after two hearings. They will be deported on the same steamer, which sails for Naples November 5. They came to this country to work in glass factories at Arnold, Pa.

Western and Southern railroads are defendants in complaints filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission, in which it is charged that unjust and unfair rates are charged. The complaints are the Riverside Mills, Augusta, Ga., Howard Mills Company, Wichita Kas., the Farmers' Mechanics and Shipbuilders' Club, Pratt Kas., and the Territory of Oklahoma.

The outbreak of anti-Japanese feeling on the Pacific coast and the rather serious phase it may assume in politics will compel President Roosevelt to add another subject to his annual message which goes to Congress as soon as it meets in December. The President's message is all complete and in type with the exception of this paragraph, and, possibly, a brief mention that the executive made after returning from the Isthmus of Panama.

As a result of a conference which certain prospective bidders for construction work on the Panama Canal had a week ago with Secretary of War Taft and Secretary of the State Root, the Isthmian Canal Commission today announced several changes in the contract. The most important of these changes is the one sought by Southern ports, particularly New Orleans, whereby the discrimination in favor of the port of New York in the matter of the shipment of supplies to the canal zone for employees and their families is abolished.

Train accidents cost the lives of 194 passengers and railway employees in the 3 months ending June 30, according to an Interstate Commerce Commission bulletin issued today. The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,103. They cost the railroad companies $3,373,924. Sixty-eight employees were killed in coupling or uncoupling cars, this being sixteen less than the number killed in the preceding three months. The largest number killed in any one accident was 10. These figures show a decrease as compared to the preceding year, but an increase over the same period in 1905. The bulletin completes the records for accidents for the year ending June 30, and shows an increase of 56 employees killed, 10,088 injured, while there is a decrease of 119 in passengers killed and 1,145 injured. The figures cover 213,000 miles of track. The increase in trainmen employed 15,695.

So indignant is Chairman J. M. Griggs, of the democratic congressional committee, he caused a circular to be sent to the republican ticket, that he has penned a note in which he says, Mr. Taft is going down to the purpose of robbing something of the administration has popularly been supposed to defeat and abhor. He adds: "In the House I have voted to uphold this administration and the President's hands in every effort he has made to institute real reforms, all of which he took from a democratic platform. However, when he sends his best man into Idaho to assist his administration, he is revolting and shot him in the left arm. What passed between the two men is not known, and probably never will be, as Mr. Adler has already intimated to the police that he will refuse to prosecute the case."

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.
[Written for the Alexandria Gazette.]
The thirty-third annual national convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which is being held in Hartford, Conn., is the largest ever held. Reports show the work is increasing along all lines, and the membership has increased about one-fourth during the past year. The enthusiasm and energy with which the unions all over our beautiful nation, and the manner in which the W. C. T. U. is being recognized as the force of a strong power for good.

The rank and file of the union is in a very healthy state to justify such brilliant reports as are being presented. Our State is well represented there. Alexandria is represented by Mrs. Kate W. Barrett, Mrs. Amy C. Weech and Mrs. Mary Matthews, all of whom have had the honor to appear upon the platform of that great convention. Mrs. Weech spoke on Temperance on Sunday in one of the suburban churches. The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, Portland, Me.; Vice President at large, Miss Anna A. Gordon, Evansville, Ind.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. S. D. Fry, Evansville, Ind.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. P. Anderson, North Dakota; Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. M. Hoge, Lincoln, Va.; Treasurer, Mrs. H. W. Brand, Evansville, Ind.

The Partridge Season.
The first of November ushers in the open season of partridges, pheasants and wild turkeys, and from now until February 1st these denizens of the woods and fields will, as the old saying goes, "live hard." The season for killing water fowl has been open for some time past, but so far few have been killed. "Old hare" and squirrels seem not to be protected at all by the law, but can be killed at any time, although their best protection is in the fact that their flesh is not palatable until after frost. In this section on account of the wet summer, the partridges are said to be scarce.

Prince Joachim and Marie Sulzer.
Vienna, Nov. 1.—Sensational developments today in the love affair of Prince Joachim of Prussia, second son of the late Emperor Wilhelm, and Marie Sulzer, a Viennese girl, whom he is engaged, have interested citizens here immensely. Incidentally all Vienna is having a good laugh at the expense of Kaiser William because of the side light thrown on the character of his cousin-to-be as demonstrated by her latest escapade. It is freely predicted that if the emperor ever meets his future cousin he will be obliged to protect himself even against his royal cousin.

It now develops that the concert hall queen, desirous of having a title of her own to match against that of Prince Joachim when they are married, planned to secure one in her own inimitable way. Accordingly she arranged with Baron von Liebenberg, an impecunious Austrian noble, for a marriage of convenience which would give the actress her title and yet relieve her of her unnecessary husband in time to carry out her marriage agreement with Prince Joachim.

Marie offered von Liebenberg $2,000 to marry her with the agreement that he was then to commit an act of infidelity which would allow her to get a divorce. The wedding accordingly took place in London on September 5. The parties separated immediately afterward.

When it came to settling with the Baron Marie showed herself a shrewd financier, and instead of paying him the $2,000 agreed upon, through her agents offered $500 and the Baron accepted. It was a good bargain, Marie getting her title at quarter price.

But Baron von Liebenberg did not fare so well. When he returned to Vienna he found that he had lost two business positions from which he derived an income of $5 a week because he had overstepped his leave of absence on his trip to England.

To make the matter worse, he was placed under military arrest because he had failed to attend the army maneuvers which were held while he was on his "honeymoon." The Baron complained to his wife and she settled upon him an income of $12.50 a fortnight, enabling the Baron to live in his accustomed style.

Hearing that the concert hall actress was about to marry Prince Joachim, of Prussia, Baron von Liebenberg went to the British Consulate in Vienna, and made an affidavit as to his marriage with Marie and the terms of the arrangement. Through this affidavit the affair came to light, and Europe is enjoying the best joke of the season, with Kaiser William and Prince Joachim as joint laughing stocks.

In this city it is assumed that the marriage of Marie to Baron von Liebenberg is invalid without a divorce, so that the concert singer's attempt to win a title will probably fall flat, and it will be plain Marie Sulzer and not the Baroness von Liebenberg that Prince Joachim marries.

Castellane Will Be Made to Fight.
Paris, Nov. 1.—That Count Boni de Castellane will soon have an opportunity to show his moshod in other ways than by beating his wife, formerly Miss Anna Gould, of New York, is regarded as certain as a result of the revelation made in yesterday's hearing of the Countess's suit for divorce. The husbands of the women involved in Boni's liaisons are ready to demand satisfaction of the little "noblemen," and it is freely predicted that Boni will either have to fight several duels or sneak out of them as best he can.

This is not the only punishment which is said to be preparing for Boni. It is intimated that he will be invited to resign from all his clubs. Radical members of the House of Deputies, it is believed, will also see that things are made so unpleasant for Boni that he will be forced to get out.

Boni's relation to the ranks of wife beaters is a revelation which men and women who have hitherto been his friends will not tolerate. Little doubt is expressed that Countess Anna will be given her divorce on the showing made by Maitre Cruppi in his address to the court.

While the identity of the women involved in the Castellane scandal was concealed under such names as Madame A. and Madame B., in the court proceedings, their real names are well-known in Paris salons. The husbands of several of these women are noted swordsmen and that they will challenge Boni immediately is regarded as certain. The little count who has defended his "honor" before, even while his wife's body was black and blue from his blows, is expected to draw his sword again or be branded as the coward he is regarded, since his wife's story has become known.

The love letters to Boni read in court left no doubt as to the character of his meetings with other women ranging from titled married women down to demi-mondaines of most questionable standing. It is related that the countess was awakened one night and going into her husband's room found that he had placed a dummy in the bed. She kept watch all night, and in the court proceedings one of her titled guests.

The list of infidelities charged against Boni is so long and so many married women are said to be involved that it is anticipated Boni will have a lively time in the future keeping all engagements offered him to meet the husbands he has wronged.

New York, Nov. 1.—The stock market was led in its price movements during the first hour by Pennsylvania, which gained 3 points. The talk in the stock was mostly about the dividend to be declared today. Becker Disappears Again.
New York, Nov. 1.—By the publication of her picture in a local newspaper, the girl in whose behalf a world wide search has been instituted for Lieut. Albrecht Becker, formerly of the German army, has been identified as Miss Bertha Paul, daughter of Frank Paul, millionaire wire manufacturer in the silk manufacturing firm of Belding, Paul & Co. of Montreal, Canada. Incidentally, through the recognition of the young woman in the case several new developments have been added to her romance.

Becker, the missing lover of the girl, who was recently located in Florida, working as a time-keeper for the East Coast Railway, has disappeared since the publication of the story giving his whereabouts. A. G. Kauffman, Jr., of this city, who has been in charge of the search in America for Becker, also appears in the new role of a suitor for Miss Paul's hand.

This accounts for his activity in trying to find Becker. Mr. Kauffman wants to prove the young lieutenant dead, or to convince Miss Paul that her former suitor no longer cares for her, so that his own suit may prosper.

Since Becker disappeared his sister, the Baroness von Gaskel, of Munich, has decided to share her fortune with him so that he is now wealthy in his own right.

The Trial of Wright.

Mrs. Forrest Gooding went on the stand yesterday, at the trial of John Wright, alias Joseph Thomas, colored, in the Circuit Court of Alexandria county. Judge O. E. Nicol, and positively identified the defendant as the man who had assaulted her near Luna Park, September 9. She testified to the jury the manner of the assault.

Mrs. Gooding was Miss Mabel Rieley at the time of the commission of the crime. She has since married Mr. Gooding, who was her companion when she was assaulted.

In his opening statement Commonwealth's Attorney Mackey said the State would prove by its witnesses that Wright was the man guilty of all the crimes for which he stands indicted. Mr. Mackey was followed by Mr. J. E. Clements, who claimed Wright is a sober and industrious negro, incapable of having committed the crimes with which he is charged. Mr. Clements informed the jury that he would prove that Thomas was not in the vicinity of Luna Park at the time the attack was made. On the witness stand Forrest Gooding gave his age as twenty-two years, and said he was employed at the gas works in Washington. He told of the stroll with Miss Rieley on the outside of the grounds and of the attack by the negro. He said that the man as he rose from the grass threatened to kill him, and almost immediately struck him over the head with a club. Gooding declared that he had a good look at the negro and was positive of the identification. He said he and Miss Rieley had walked out of the park to get a drink of water at a nearby spring. When about 200 feet west of the gate he noticed a dark object in the grass. The witness said the man had a club in one hand and a pistol in the other and the negro used the former, striking him on the head. Mr. Gooding said he was dazed by the blow, but tried to reach the park to summon assistance. He testified he did not see the assault upon Miss Rieley.

Mrs. Mamie L. Sullivan, sister of Mrs. Gooding, was the next witness. She told of the return of her sister the evening of the assault, and of her statement made at the time. The witness said that Mrs. Gooding had been in ill health ever since the occurrence.

Mrs. Gooding was called to the stand late in the afternoon, and the courtroom, which since the trial opening at 10 o'clock in the morning had contained a large gathering of citizens, was cleared of auditors by order of the judge. When the prisoner walked before her in order that she might survey him critically, she was very deliberate and very positive in her identification.

On taking the stand Mrs. Gooding, in plain language and in short sentences, told of the attack and the robbery, in which she stated she secured a pocket-book containing $10 in cash and some jewelry. She then gave the details of the criminal assault committed on her. She stated that she and Mr. Gooding were near a spring, when Wright sprang out from the underbrush, and with a large stick in one hand and a pistol in the other, knocked Mr. Gooding in the head and then brutally threw her to the ground, and, after choking her, assaulted her and robbed her of a sixteen dollar and three dime. Witness also told of how her husband ran for help after the assault, but when he returned the negro had made his escape.

Commonwealth's Attorney Mackey asked the witness if she saw her assailant in the courtroom. "There he is," she replied, pointing at the prisoner.

"Are you positive that he is the man?" asked Mr. Mackey.

"I am positive. There is not the slightest doubt about it in my mind," she answered. This she reasserted after Mr. Mackey had asked her if she fully realized that upon her testimony the man might be hanged.

After describing her movements just previous to the assault, she said Mr. Gooding ran toward the park after he was hit on the head by the man and that she was then knocked down and abused.

Dr. T. T. Harrington, proprietor of a livery stable in this city, then took the stand. He testified that Thomas had hired a fix at the livery stable about 2 o'clock the afternoon of September 9. Mr. Harrington could not recall the time when the vehicle was returned.

Hannah Thomas, colored, swore that Thomas had taken her out for a drive Sunday afternoon, September 9, and had returned as the bells were ringing for the evening services in the churches. She thought he had returned the vehicle to the livery stable between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Dr. Glen L. Jones, of the Emergency Hospital, was the next witness. He said that Gooding and Miss Rieley had come to the hospital the night of September 9, and that the former had a severe scalp wound, apparently inflicted by a blunt instrument, while the young woman exhibited bruises on her throat.

After Dr. Jones's testimony had been received, Attorney Clements informed the court that he had attempted to secure the attendance of important witnesses from Washington, but without success. He asked that the case be continued until 10 o'clock this morning. In order that he might make other efforts to bring the witnesses into court, and the request was granted.

When the case was called this morning Wardon Harris, of the Washington city jail, testified that Commonwealth's Attorney Mackey told him that all he wanted to do was to get Wright before a Virginia jury, as he had been indicted for rape upon a white woman; he did not care much for other witnesses.

Deputy Warden Rasmussen and several of the guards at the Washington jail testified that Miss Rieley came to the jail and after first identifying a man named Harry Johnson as the assailant, later declared that Wright was the man.

At two o'clock this evening, after a recess, Wright was put on the stand. He said he was in Alexandria at the time the assault was committed and denied all connection whatever with the affair.

At 8:30 o'clock this evening Wright was still on the stand and was making a witness for himself.

The jury is composed of Lucien O. Sanford, L. B. Ball, Thomas R. Shipman, Henry Lockwood, Charles E. Harrison, Robert S. Walker, Calvin S. Marney, W. H. Kendrick, John B. Henderson, Jr., T. F. Botchford, Elmer E. Soper and Henry L. Croson.

The line of the defense is that no rape was committed on Miss Rieley.

Witnesses testified yesterday that Police Captain Mathews and Lieut. Mulhall, whose cases are being investigated by the police trial board in Washington, did their full duty at the time of the accident in which Engineer Hugh Murphy, of the Southern Railway, lost his life. The witnesses denied that the accused officers interfered with efforts to save the engineer.

The first witness called was A. E. McChesney, a conductor on the Southern Railway. He said that when he arrived on the scene of the accident, every attention was being paid to Engineer Murphy's condition, but that very little could be done. He testified that when he came up the police made no attempt to stop him, after they found he was a railroad man.

Capt. William F. Lannahan, of Engine Company No. 13, told the trial board that Murphy had been literally cooked by the hot water and steam and that if the locomotive had been lifted off him immediately he would not have lived. One of his men thought that Murphy was held-headed, but a more careful investigation brought out the fact that the hair had been scalded off his head. The witness said Murphy's flesh fell off wherever touched.

During the cross-examination of Capt. Lannahan by Mr. Bendheim for the prosecution, which was marked by several sharp tilts between witness and lawyer, Capt. Lannahan said no jacks were brought near the engine until he had ordered them, and sent after them.

Fire Marshal Nicholson corroborated the testimony of Capt. Lannahan, as to the condition of Murphy. He said he saw only one jack in service, and that one had not raised the engine at all, but had simply made a hole in the side of the cab. He heard no order issued by the police to the men working around the engine, and, so far as he saw, they were not molested in any way.

Thomas O. Griffin, a blacksmith, formerly employed by the Southern Railway, said he had helped put the jacks in place. During all the time he was at work the police did not interfere with him. He said he did not see any unbecoming conduct on the part of Capt. Mathews or Lieut. Mulhall.

The testimony of James W. Latane, which was similar to that of Mr. Griffin, concluded the hearing for the day.

Hallowe'en Parties.
The Hallowe'en party given by Miss Annie Thaler, Miss Rose Padgett and Miss Frances Brill at the residence of Mrs. E. H. Hammond, on north St. Asaph street, last night, was really enjoyed by all who attended. The following were present: Misses Minnie Zimmerman, Lena Grover, Maggie Lucas, Ida Allen, Fenton McKenney, Marie McKenney, Minnie Thaler, Grace Mitchell, Rena Griffin, Ethel Wagner, Amanda Rambo, Mrs. Leslie Saunders and Mrs. Tucker; Messrs John Lucas, Frank Cooke, John Knight, John Armistead, William Keeland, John Waddy, William Thaler, Allen Cogan, Charles Glover, and Richard Rambo. During the evening seasonable refreshments were served.

There was another happy gathering of young people last night at the residence of Mr. Robert H. Hancock, on south Lee street. The party was given by Miss Beatie Creggan and Miss Bertie Hancock. Those present were: Misses Marie Monroe, Lena Waters, Eva Lynch, Nellie Hixson, Bertha Lunsford, Maggie Murphy, Nellie Murphy, Vera Germond, Susie Crooke, Orrin Woodson, Martha Hancock, Edith Evans, Ida Creggan, Miss O'Toole and Mrs. Quigley; Messrs Tommy Carroll, Howard Keyworth, Wm. Baugh, Francis Daly, of Washington, and Hugh Adcock, Forrest Birrell, Warner Foltz, Lee Fannon, Frank Monroe, Harvey Henshaw, Norris Roland, Marshall Schofield, Lawrence Rose, Raymond Lloyd and Leonard Evans. During the evening games were participated in till a late hour, after which refreshments were served.

An Unexpected Haul.
While Chief Goods and Officers Nicholson and Smith were endeavoring to capture some of the younger generation who were enjoying a housewarming last night they entered the upper story of a house on King street where the youths were supposed to have hid, but instead of finding the objects of their search the officers surprised eight young men who were enjoying a game of "seven up," the participants having posted fifty cents each. Three of the party disappeared under tables when the policemen entered, but they were soon brought to the light. The officers after gathering in the "pot" and other money left on the table, amounting to over six dollars, marched the men to the station house where they left collateral for their reappearance before the Police Court this morning. When the case was called it was shown that two of the prisoners were not engaged in the game when the officers entered the room, and they were dismissed. A fine of $5 was assessed against each of the others.

All Saints' Day.
Today is all Saints' Day and, as such, was observed in St. Mary's Church with appropriate services. The object of the day is to do honor to all the lesser saints who could not have a feast especially set apart for them and all holy men and martyrs whose records have not survived. The feast was observed in the Greek Church on the first Sunday of Pentecost as early as the fourth century. The observance of the day was introduced in the west in the seventh century on the occasion of the conversion of the Roman Pantheon into a Christian church, dedicated to the Virgin Mary and all the martyrs. The anniversary of this event was observed on May 13. In 781 Gregory III consecrated a chapel in St. Peter's Church, Rome, in honor of all saints on November 1.

Hallowe'en Dance.

A most delightful Hallowe'en dance was given at the Golf Club House last night by six of the younger members of the club. The dancing was most enjoyable and the refreshments were most delicious. The reception room was beautifully and seasonably decorated with cornucopias, autumn leaves, etc., and a roaring open fire made everyone most comfortable. Whenever the music was playing the floor was filled with a crowd of merry dancers and seldom, if ever, has a more attractive party been given at the club. Quite late in the evening everyone present joined in a Virginia reel, and it was almost midnight when the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" brought the affair to a close. A number of out-of-town guests were present. Among them were: Misses Elizabeth Lloyd, of New York; Elsiebeth Wyson, of Charles Town, W. Va.; Helen Holohan, of Lancaster, Pa.; Marie Tunstall, Agnes and Josephine Harvey and Anne Selden, of Washington; Messrs. Clarence January, U. S. A.; Frank H. Nolte, of Cincinnati; Richard Landale, of Sandy Springs, Md.; Dainierfield Addison, of Fairfax Station; Gustave Thompson, of Del Ray; Charles Cheyney, and Kersley Selden, of Washington.

Police Court.
[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]
The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Pearl Hawkins, colored, arrested by Officer Nicholson for vagrancy, was sent to jail for 80 days.

Six young men, arrested by Chief Goods and Officers Nicholson and Smith charged with gambling, were fined $5 each. Two other men, charged with a similar offense, were dismissed.

Joseph Jenkins, arrested by Chief Goods and Officers Garvey, Lyles, Young and Gill charged with trespassing, was dismissed.

Delilah London, arrested by Officer Beach charged with depositing a nuisance in the street, was fined $2.50.

Lillian Blair and Merville Terrell, arrested by Officers Smith and Nicholson charged with disorderly conduct, were dismissed.

Sent Back to Jail.
Pearl Hawkins, a young colored woman, who was recently arrested for vagrancy, was before the Police Court again this morning on a similar charge. It appeared from the evidence that after having been sent to jail on a previous charge she was released conditionally—that is that she would secure a "service place." The woman entered the house of a citizen and after a few days informed the mistress that she could not work more than two days in a week. This being unsatisfactory, she left the house and yesterday found her way to her former haunts in the "Petersburg" neighborhood. Justice Caton sent her back to jail with 20 days added to her former sentence, making 80 days in all.

Hallowe'en Pranks.
The younger generation took charge of the city last night, and were perpetrating practical jokes until a late hour. In some instances blinds were removed from doors and windows and gates carried away, while flour was scattered in every direction. A bread box and contents belonging to a south Fairfax street grocer was captured and thrown into the Wilkes street tunnel. The box was smashed into kindling wood and the bread rendered unfit for use. The recording angel was kept busy at an early hour this morning when housekeepers realized that they were victims of such senseless jokes. The moral of the fable in which the jackass is represented as dancing among the ducks is applicable to the perpetrators of such pranks.

The Machinists' Strike.
There was no change in conditions in and around the Southern Railway depot this morning. The new engines recently received from the Baldwin Works in Philadelphia are still in the yard. They have not been put together. A number of locomotives which need immediate repairs are on a side track. The conference between the railroad officials and representatives of the striking machinists was to have been held in New York today. Work on the support for the proposed overhead bridge at Wolfe and Henry streets is still in progress. At the request of the Southern Railway officials in this city Judge Barley today appointed ten additional special agents for the company to serve in this city.

Chamber of Commerce.
The rooms of the Chamber of Commerce were opened today with Mr. J. T. Preston, secretary, in charge. The rooms are those in the second story of the building at the southeast corner of King and Washington streets, formerly occupied by the Business Men's League. It will be the duty of Mr. Preston to look after the commercial interests of Alexandria at all times.

Held Up.
Mrs. Dove, who lives near Franconia, Fairfax county, was in the city today and reported that a colored man came to her house yesterday, "held her up" with a gun and stole some money and other articles from the house. She said that the man corresponded with the description of Robinson, who is wanted in this city charged with being connected with the Smith murder.

Cold Weather.
The weather was cold again last night, the mercury in the thermometer falling to the freezing point. Some thin ice was noticed this morning. The weather today has been fair, with a slight rise in the temperature.
